ARRIVAL AT CINCINNATI

Of James G. Blaine and His Political Chaperons.

The Reception at Urbana, Springfield, Madison, Dayton, Hamilton and Cincinnati - Interview with Schurz on the Outlook.

DAYTON, Oct. 1.—Stops were made by the Blaine party at Carey, Forest, Kenton, Bellefontaine, Urbana and Springfield, leaving Carey at 1 p. m. and reaching here at 7 p. m. At all these places large crowds congregated at the depots. At Kenton the crowd would perhaps reach 10,000; at Bellefontaine 12,000; at Urbana the crowd was estimated at 25,000. Blaine and party were transferred from the train to the Public Square in carriages, with thirty-seven ladies on white horses acting as a body guard. At Springfield the crowd was estimated at 40,000. It was a perfect jam. In his address Mr. Blaine took occasion to touch upon the tariff question in speaking of Springfield as a manufacturing town. He was followed by Judge West.

The party arrived at Dayton at 7 o'clock. Over 50,000 people thronged the streets. Mr. Blaine was driven to the Beckel House. After tea he proceeded to the Court-house on Main street, where he reviewed a torchlight procession. Upwards of 5,000 men were in line. Mr. Blaine said:

"This vast assemblage of people is not only far beyond the reach of the human voice, but the effect of this grand spectacle is far beyond human expression, and speaks more eloquently than words for the Republican cause. When I left home I heard that Ohio lacked enthusiasm. If this be a lack of enthusiasm I would like to see you genuinely stirred up. This is a campaign of the business man, of the manufacturer, of the mechanic, of the farmer—in short, of everyone who has a dollar to earn or a dollar to save. I believe in that kind of campaign. The voice of the State of Ohio cannot, and will not, be doubtful. In that belief, I leave it to you and bid you a cordial good night."

After the applause had subsided Mr. Blaine was driven to his hotel.

In the morning, after visiting the veterans at the Soldiers' Home, the Blaine party went to the train. There was a tremendous crowd at the depot, and the cheers were hearty and loud as the train went out.

The veterans of the Soldiers' Home cheered Mr. Blaine and he made a big speech in Memorial Hall. At 10:45 the party departed in their special train for Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Oct. 1.—The party was given a grand ovation here, equal to that at Urbana. The city was crowded by people from the surrounding country.

The train arrived at 12:10, and 2,000 people at the depot sent up a cheer which told those in the square that Blaine had struck old Butler, the hot bed of Democracy. Cannon boomed and drowned the voice of the people.

A local Reception Committee, headed by James Beckett, O. V. Parrish and others came with the train. They aided Blaine to alight and led him to a carriage, where Captain Wilson, Congressman Morey, J. M. Long, C. E. Giffen, William Ritchie and Judge Cox, of Cincinnati, awaited them, and were then driven slowly up town.

Blaine took off his hat to the crowd as they cheered his slow progress. The carriage was followed by the Blaine Guards of this town, and they by the Young Men's Blaine Club of Cincinnati, 230 strong, headed by Miller Outcault and Vice President Probasco.

Captain Paul Milligan led forty men from Covington. Other cavalry delegations made a long, imposing spectacle, and several bands made it a wild, enthusiastic gathering.

When Blaine reached the great crowd in the square the tumult increased and swelled into one great yell as his white head and face appeared above the crowd. He was introduced by William Beckett, and said a few words only.

It is estimated that fully 50,000 people were gathered about the public squares. Messrs. Blaine and Foster, for an hour, became the guests of Dr. Faulkner.

The Young Men's Blaine and Logan club rendezvoused at Beckett's, where a programme of cheers and campaign songs was carried out. Other clubs, coming from the south made the same hall their headquarters, and there was a crushing time for the boys. Jacob's Hall, Davis' Hall, the city buildings and the armory accommodated others. By 11 o'clock a perfect sea of humanity surged and waved almost the entire business portion of High street. Men of all shades of political opinion were there, longing for a glimpse of the man from Maine. A canon was kept hot firing salutes, and processions on foot and in ornamented wagons were moving through side streets to the depot, to form in what was accessarily a mammoth procession.

From Richmond, Indiana, alone came a delegation of 1,500 strong. Dayton, Camden, and Middletown sent large delegations. Lemon Township sent a mounted delegation of 400 men. Connersville, Liberty, College Corner, and Oxford were all represented by large delegations. For a hundred miles, on all railroads, vast crowds poured in to swell the throng.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1.—A tremendous pack of people, extending up and down Fifth street for four blocks, up and down Hoadly from Fourth to Seventh, awaited the arrival of the special train carrying Blaine and party.

The train arrived at 3:35, nearly three hours behind the appointed time, and many, tired waiting, had returned to their homes or business when the train pulled in.

The line of march from the C., H. & D. Depot to the Burnet House—out Fifth street to Central avenue, then on Central avenue to Fourth street; thence westward to Walnut street, was one dense mass of humanity, and from the moment the Blaine party came in sight at a given point, until it had disappeared, the cheering was simply deafening.

Interview with Carl Schurz.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—"Yes, my audiences were apparently with me in sentiment wherever I spoke," said the Hon. Carl Schurz, in a reply to a question regarding the speeches made by him in Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio during the past three weeks. "All of the meetings that I addressed were very large, and there was great enthusiasm manifested. I think the Western people are taking a great deal of interest in this campaign. In each of the places where I spoke, it was noticeable that appeals for integrity in the conduct of the Government were strongly applauded. From what I saw and heard I am free to express the belief that Cleveland's friends have a good fighting chance of carrying Ohio. Of course, I am not able to foretell the effect of Mr. Blaine's visit to Ohio. This is most assuredly a campaign of unknown quantities, and at present the greatest quantity is the Ohio October election."

"What chance has Cleveland of carrying Wisconsin or Illinois?"

"The chance of political feeling among the Germans of both of these States is certainly very great," answered Mr. Schurz. "The growth of this Republican disaffection will depend largely on the result of the State election in Ohio. It may be fairly stated that Wisconsin and Illinois are doubtful States. Of the condition of affairs in Michigan I could not form much of an opinion. I went from there to Chicago, and delivered an address in German."

One week from next Monday Mr. Schurz will speak in Buffalo, and he may address other meetings in this State during the closing days of the campaign.

What's Going to Happen?

WINONA, Minn., Oct. 1.—M. K. Miter, Republican nominee for Congress in this district, had a full list of appointments commencing at Winona yesterday. He arrived about noon and informed the people assembled at the Court House that he was no longer a candidate. This action virtually cancels his list of appointments and gives Barry (Democrat) a walk-over.

BRIGHTENING PROSPECTS.

Iron Works About Pittsburgh Picking Up Business.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 1.—At the leading iron works in this vicinity it is found that trade is brightening up. At the Vulcan Works about 150 tons of finished iron is being turned out each day. The cotton trade is fast finding its way back to this city from England. At the Pittsburgh Forge and Iron Works all the heating furnaces are being rebuilt, so as to introduce natural gas. At these works the puddlers are at all times on double time, and finishing departments use the muck iron as fast as it is turned out. The same may be said of Gruff & Bennett's works. Of the output of muck iron, the Union Mills of Carnegie & Co. are turning out 150 tons of finished iron per day, or bridges principally. Altogether there are more puddling furnaces in operation here than at any time for several months. As a general thing the steel business is yet slack. The Bessemer plant is in operation, but not to its full capacity. It is turning out 400 tons of rails daily.

TALK ABOUT CIRCUSES.

The People of Atchison, Kansas, Had One and no Mistake.

ATCHISON, Kan., Oct. 1.—During the afternoon performance of Barnum's circus Tuesday a wind storm struck the tents. The people became panicky and rushed wildly for the openings, dropping from the highest seats to the ground. The greatest confusion prevailed, which was not quelled by the efforts of the attendants. The canvas was ripped and split, and two of the main poles were broken. None were seriously hurt, although bruises and minor injuries are reported. A drenching rain followed immediately, from which none escaped as they crawled from beneath the fluttering canvas.

COLE'S CLOSE CALL.

Prominent Young Man of Nashville Probably Fatally Injured.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 1.—Randall Cole, son of Colonel E. W. Cole, the railroad king, while boarding a freight train in motion at Antioch Station, on the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway, yesterday, fell under the caboose and had his right arm so badly crushed that it will have to be amputated. He is suffering so much from the shock that it is thought he will die. Young Cole was to marry a beautiful, popular young society belle of this city next month. His father has just built him a beautiful residence, in anticipation of this event.

A Murderous Assault.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Oct. 1.—John Beemer, a native of Holland, in the employ of W. E. Dorwin, a prominent contractor in this city, made a murderous assault on the latter and Mayor Longley, Dorwin's father-in-law, last night. He fired a shot at Longley, the ball striking him in the side, but the bullet glanced off without doing any serious injury. Beemer then fled from the house. In his flight he cut his wrist by accidentally thrusting his hand through a plate glass window. He was found this morning in a ditch near his house where he had secluded himself. He was very weak from loss of blood. It is believed he is insane. He was locked up to await an examination.

A WOMAN'S JEALOUSY

Leads Her to Murder a Domestic and Flee to the Woods.

CELTALIA, Pa., Oct. 1.—In a tract, known locally as "Hell's Kitchen," north of Locust Mountain, Mrs. Heinrich, wife of a rich farmer, stabbed a domestic named Mary Linderman Sunday night, inflicting half a dozen fatal wounds in her face and body, from which the victim soon died. The affair grew out of Mrs. Heinrich's jealousy, because of her husband's supposed attentions to the girl. After the tragedy the murderess fled to the woods and has not been seen since.

Eloped with a Stage Driver.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 1.—Mattie Murdock, the pretty blue-eyed nineteen-year-old daughter of the railroad bridge-tender, David Murdock, eloped with young Harry Powell, a stage driver, who became fascinated with the girl as he passed Murdock's humble cottage on his daily trips.

Found Dead.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Robert Handside, aged fifty-five, a gentleman of means, connected with the Western News Company, was found on the platform of the Avondale depot of the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad this morning, with a deep hole in the top of his head. His body was cold. Foul play is suspected. He lived near Avondale.

THE LETTER OF ST. JOHN

Accepting the Prohibition Presidential Nomination.

The Two Great Parties Discussing the Tariff While Whisky is Destroying Homes, Debauching Manhood and Producing Poverty Crime and Corruption.

OLATHE, Kan., Oct. 2.—Some days ago Mr. St. John, the Prohibition candidate for President, sent a telegram to Samuel Dickie, Chairman of the committee, to the effect that his letter of acceptance would be ready in a short time, and that it would embrace his views. The following is

THE LETTER

Informally accepting the nomination for President, tendered to me by the National Prohibition Convention at Pittsburg, July 23, I take the opportunity to state that while the honor was neither sought nor desired by me, yet it is greatly appreciated, bestowed as it was by a Convention composed of delegates, who, in point of moral worth and mental ability, were fully equal, if not superior, to any political convention that ever assembled in this country. The war for the Union is over, the rebellion has been crushed, African slavery abolished; old issues have passed away, and with them should go old prejudices and sectional strife. To-day the products of the North and the South lost in friendly relations in the same channels, under the same flag, every section of our country acknowledging allegiance to the same Government. There never was a time when our people could better afford to, and when it was more important that you should stop and think than now. With manufactures shutting down, banks breaking, merchants failing, securities unsettled, Western wheat selling at the home market for forty cents per bushel and hundreds of thousands of industrious mechanics and laboring men, who are willing to work, but can get nothing to do, it seems to me the time has come for the people, who are the source of all political power, to call a halt and stop and think, for there must be a reason for this condition of things.

THE ISSUES.

The little time and space the old parties can spare after dealing out the full measure of personal abuse and vilification, that each seems to think the other merits, is mainly devoted to a discussion of the tariff question, ignoring all matters that relate to the moral elevation of the people. I am of the opinion that the manufacturer, who, by reason of the depressed condition of business, has been compelled to make an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, will not find relief in the agitation of that question now, nor will the average farmer become very enthusiastic over its discussion with his wheat not worth as much in the bin as it cost him to produce it.

REVENUES.

The amount received by the Government for duties on exports is not less than $500,000,000 annually. There are about 179,000 retail dealers in intoxicating liquors in the United States, each of whom pays to our Government $25 in consideration of which sum they are permitted to carry on their business for the term of twelve months. When we add to this the amount paid by the distillers, brewers and wholesale dealers, we find that the interest of the Government in the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors is about $80,000,000 annually.

IMMORALITY.

This traffic, sanctioned, as it is, by the laws of our country, costs the people at a low estimate a thousand million dollars a year, not to speak of the destroyed homes, debauched manhood, poverty, heartaches, crime, and corruption it produces. This disgraceful business should be suppressed and the enormous sum of money that under the present system is worse than thrown away, saved to the people and thus a protection would be given to the industries of this country, that would enable us successfully to throw our doors open wide to the competition of the world.

The Republican and Democratic parties favor a continuance of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, while the Prohibition party demands that the same shall be forever suppressed. Thus an issue is presented to the people in which is involved the protection of every home in the land. It is not a mere local issue either, but it is a national, as well as a practical question, upon which a large and respectable body of citizens have decided to vote, and they will not be found halting between two opinions touching this matter, but will work and pray and vote against this great evil until it is driven from our land, never to return.

THE GOVERNMENT

Is simply the reflex of the individuals composing it. If we want an honest, sober Government, we must have an honest, sober people. But we can never have an honest, sober people so long as the Government sanctions that which makes its citizens dishonest, drunken and corrupt.

THE PROHIBITION PLATFORM.

The declaration of principles, which I heartily endorse, as set forth in the platform of the Prohibition party, is entitled to the thoughtful consideration and earnest support of all good citizens, without regard to locality or former political affiliation. Our country needs an administration that will rise above mere partisan considerations and in the selection of public officials make honesty, sobriety, and efficiency—not service to party—the test. It should be conducted, not in the interest of any particular section, party, race, or color, but in the interest of the whole people. To accomplish this all good citizens should promptly step to the front and be counted for the right.

This is no time for dodging. Moral cowardice will never win, and surely never deserves a victory.

Then let us look to God for his guidance, and fearlessly and faithfully do our whole duty, never doubting that He will take care of the results. [Signed]

JOHN P. ST. JOHN.

A DESPERADO'S ESCAPE.

Belief that He Was Aided by the Officials.

NUYEA LAREDO, Mex., Oct. 1.—Yesterday

the celebrated Mexican bandit and murderer, known as El Cayoti (the wolf) escaped from prison here. He is believed to have assassinated nine men during the past four years. While in prison he confessed, among other crimes, to having been a ringleader in the attack at Bustamante Station on a Mexican National passenger train and pay car about a year ago, when two large sacks of silver bullion were stolen, for which several Mexicans were afterward arrested and shot. El Cayoti apparently escaped by sawing through a heavy crowbar, but it is the accepted belief that his escape was connived at by the officials. He frequently boasted that he had valuable treasures hidden in the mountains.

A DESPERATE MURDER.

Shot Down and then Beaten to Death with a Revolver.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 1.—J. A. Hoag, a well-known resident of Farmington, Wyoming Territory, was murdered yesterday by Dillard Walker, also an old citizen of the place. Hoag owed Walker a trifling sum of money, and some hard feelings existed between the parties. Hoag was standing in a saloon yesterday when Walker entered, and without saying a word, drew a revolver and shot Hoag in the back. The latter ran into the back room, followed by Walker. A number of persons were in the saloon, but Walker threatened to kill any one who interfered. He followed Hoag up and shot him three times more and then beat him over the head with the revolver until dead. Several spectators witnessed the fearful deed, but no one had the courage to attempt to prevent it. Walker then made his escape and headed for the Coeur D'Alene Mountains. The Sheriff and a large party of Indian police are now in close pursuit and he soon will be captured. If caught alive he will certainly be lynched. Both men have families. The sickening tragedy causes intense excitement.

A BRUTE OF BRUTES

Beats His Wife to Death With His Still Born Child.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Mrs. Michael Shay, living at 401 Clark street, gave birth to a still born child early yesterday morning. The woman was of a robust constitution and in no danger when Dr. Camp, the physician, left her. Upon visiting her last evening, however, the doctor found her at the point of death. On making inquiry of the neighbors, he learned that Myde Woods and his wife were in the room with Mrs. Shay when her husband came home in a beastly state of intoxication. Going up to the bedside of his wife he seized the body of the dead child by the legs and beat his wife over the head with it as she lay on the couch. When exhausted with his brutal assault he fell to the floor insensible from drink. He was taken to the Armory and locked up. At 12 o'clock the woman died.

Eloping With a Gypsy Girl.

WESTMINSTER, Md., Oct. 1.—A sensation has been created here by the disappearance of George Griggs with a beautiful young gypsy girl. Ten days ago a gypsy band arrived here, and have attracted much attention. Among them was a young girl remarkable for her beauty, which was so fascinating that the women of the town paid her much attention. At a dance given at the house of a citizen the girl met young Griggs, who was at once infatuated, much to the disgust of the tribe. Last night the two disappeared, and it is supposed they have gone to Baltimore. The tribe are greatly enraged, and have started to search for them. It is feared they will do Griggs some injury if they find him. Griggs was engaged to marry a young girl here.

NINE MEN IMPRISONED

In a Caisson Sixty Feet Under Water.

WILMINGTON, Del., Oct. 1.—A special from Elkton, Maryland, says: Intelligence reached here by telephone that the caisson of the Baltimore & Ohio bridge over the Susquehanna River at Frenchtown sank at 8 o'clock this morning. Twenty men were under it, and seven or eight are supposed to have been drowned. A bulletin displayed at the Telephone Exchange states that between six and nine men are imprisoned in the caisson, which is sixty feet under water. Air is being pumped. There is a probability of effecting their rescue after the tide has fallen.

Too Much Rum.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 1.—General W. A. Throop, a prominent Republican politician and leading bookseller, was found lying in his store on Woodward avenue at 1:30 Wednesday morning with a bullet hole in his right temple. He is not unconscious, but can not speak. It is supposed the act is the result of a prolonged drinking spell.

His physicians say he cannot recover. Throop went to the war as Second Lieutenant of Company A, First Michigan Infantry, and rose to be a Brevet Brigadier General. He addressed the Republican meeting last night and was quite an active politician.

Murder from Jealousy.

DANVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Pomfret Allen shot and killed Michael Torney Monday night, after accusing him of intimacy with Mrs. Allen. Torney was a boarder in the Allen house. He was married, but had left his wife, and had a bad reputation. Allen is noted as an athlete and runner. He did not live happily with his wife, and public opinion is not altogether in his favor.

The Mule's Unerring Aim.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 1.—Abner Mason, a farmer, aged seventy-eight years, was kicked to death by a mule near this city Tuesday. The mule was eating persimmons on Mason's tree. The old man tried to drive him off with a pole. The mule backed him into the corner of a fence and kicked him to death.

A Sad Men's Convention.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—A National Convention of the Funeral Directors' Association began this morning at Greenbaum's Hotel. Delegates are here from all the States and Canada, Cuba and Mexico. Scientific experiments in embalming will be made. Mayor Harrison delivered an address of welcome. The Convention continues two days.

Cholera.

ROME, Oct. 1.—Fifty-two new cases of cholera and thirty deaths are reported from Genoa during the past twenty-four hours. At Naples there were 128 new cases and forty deaths reported during the same period.
